Editor New York Journal :

A few of us were dining together last composed of rich men; yet, without an exception, we expressed ourselves as being willing to shed our blood if need property. I need not tell you, I take it, that surprise was voiced, and indig-nation, too, at the stand taken by the Journal in this campsign, in which the only is-ue, as Mr. Whitelaw Reid and Mr. Roo evelt have well said, is the Eighth Commandment.

It is both astonishing and painful to find a New York newspaper encouraging in the mob a spirit that one day make necessary the employment of the army to secure that stability of society every four years, and now more open ly toan ever before. You affect to be chanic and laborer and farmer, is competen, to past judgment upon problems o difficult and intricate as those of finance. To put that notion into com-mon men's heads is not only foolish, that you are inviting the spoliation of the better classes-anarchy?

In my judgement, the great necessity in this country, now and always, is leadership. Universal suffrage is a mistake, but since we have it all those tion, and by every principle of justice and sound policy should be intrusted with the task of ruling it.

table, every one of whom may be a representative man; since each of them holds a more or less reputable position in the service of a bank or corporation. I am willing, moreover, to accpt all the consequences of my opinion that the or-diary voter should not be permitted unrestricted liberty in the use of his ballot. No man has a right to vote wrong. As Charles L. Fairchild, formerly of Mr. Cleveland's cabinet, truly said to the honest money democrats:

"The masses of the American people cannot take care of themselves and need wise and sagacious leadership."
Almost daily you hold up to scorn

Mr. Mark Hanna, treating him as though he were a villain because he is standing forth like a hero as champion of the enlightened few against the imbruted many. The better classes have supplied Mr. Hanna with a great fund to educate and persuade the masses. You intimate that much of the fund will be used "corruptly." What then? If the masses, or any large proportion of them are bent on assaulting property, is it not legitimate self-defense on the part of the better classes to use their means to the best advantage? It would be the insanity of folly to submit to a nation wide raid of the mob. I hold it to be perfectly defensible to employ the methods that Mr. Hanna is employing. It is right that employers should give their workingmen plainly to understand that a vote against the common interests of capital and labor will be deemed an act of treason and punished by discharge. Where would the work ing classes be if we did not turnish them with employment? To us they, in fact owe their bread and butter, and in common gratitude their votes should be cheerfully given to us when we require them

The masses have captured the democratic party and the masses jealous of haprosperity of their superiors will, if left to themselves, go to the ballot box determined to empty go to the ballot box determined to empty our pockets and fill the rown. All means to prevent a naturnal calamity like that are to be commended by every good citizen.

The cause of gold, sir, will win, because it has the gold of the country to back it. As a matter both of private interest and public honor, the nefarious proposal to restore the free coinage of silver will be rejected. The masses, no doubt, would, if permitted elect, Disturber Bryan and reduce the value of every gold dollar now in possession of their of every gold dollar now in possession of employers, who are their benefactors they will not be permitted. Mr. Mark Hanna, at whom you sucer, and the clases for whom he stands and works and fights, will see to it that the masses shall vote as they should. Workingmen, for unately, know a wnich side their bread is buttered, and with unless I am very much in error, do as they are told on election day, in spite of ranting orators and demagogic newspapers.
